

The GlaxoSmithKline Residential Chemistry Training Experience

6th - 11th September 2009

- This fully-funded, week-long structured programme will allow you to enhance your scientific and professional skills through a mixture of tutorials and practical experience. Now in its sixth year, the Residential Chemistry Training Experience will be held at the:

GlaxoSmithKline Medicines Research Centre,
Stevenage, Hertfordshire, SG1 2NY on 6th - 11th
September 2009.

- Whether you are a chemistry undergraduate about to enter your final year of study or a chemistry graduate who is contemplating returning to a career in chemistry and would like to gain an insight into the pharmaceutical industry, you are invited to submit a completed application. Applications are particularly welcome from ethnic minority undergraduates and/or mature students who have elected to study chemistry at a later stage.
- Further information and application forms are available from your careers service.

Completed application forms should be submitted to the RCTE administrator at the address indicated above by 12th June 2009.

“The skills learned are invaluable”
2008 Participant